

Now and Next

A "now and next" visual is used to help a child understand what is happening and is a great support for transition.

When out and about in the community, it can be really helpful to finish a "now and next" with "home" so that children know they will be returning to a familiar and safe environment, following the change.